A Deacon Tells Him

There was an energetic young preacher who took his sermonizing very seriously. Now there was a deacon in his congregation who did very little and seemed to care less. The preacher often took aim at the deacon in his preaching, but the old deacon never caught the point. He always thought the pastor was preaching to someone else. One Sunday, the preacher was particularly pointed. Following the service, the deacon exclaimed, "Preacher, you sure told 'em today." The next sermon, it was the same reaction again. The third Sunday, the preacher was even more pointed. Again the deacon enthused, "Preacher, you sure told 'em today." The fourth Sunday it rained so hard that no-one came to church except the pastor and his deacon. The preacher thought he'd now have a real opportunity to take aim and hit his deacon-target. After a hard hitting thirty minutes and a hymn of invitation, the pastor went to his place at the door to greet his one-person congregation. The deacon walked up to his pastor, held out his hand and announced, "Preacher, you sure would have told 'em if they had been here!"

MILDURA CHURCH OF CHRIST

9th June, 2013

Some say he was an outlaw, that he roamed across the land,
With a band of unschooled ruffians and few old fishermen,
No one knew just where he came from, or exactly what he'd done,
But they said it must be something bad that kept him on the run.

Some say he was a poet, that he'd stand upon the hill
That his voice could calm an angry crowd and make the waves stand still,
That he spoke in many parables that few could understand,
But the people sat for hours just to listen to this man.

Some say a politician who spoke of being free,
He was followed by the masses on the shores of Galilee,
He spoke out against corruption and he bowed to no decree,
And they feared his strength and power so they nailed him to a tree.

Some say he was a sorcerer, a man of mystery,
He could walk upon the water, he could make a blind man see,
That he conjured wine at weddings and did tricks with fish and bread,
That he talked of being born again and raised people from the dead.

Some say he was the Son of God, a man above all men,
That he came to be a servant and to set us free from sin,
And that's who I believe he is, cause that's what I believe,
And I think we should get ready cause it's time for us to leave.

MATTHEW 16:15, "What about you?" Jesus asked, "Who do you say I am?"

Mark 2: 23 - 3:4 Lord of the Sabbath

One Sabbath Jesus was going through the grainfields, and as his disciples walked along, they began to pick some heads of grain. The Pharisees said to him, 'look, why are they doing what is unlawful on the Sabbath?' He answered, 'Have you never read what David did when he and his companions were hungry and in need? In the days of Abiathar the high priest, he entered the house of God and ate the consecrated bread, which is lawful only for priests to eat. And he also gave some to his companions.' Then he said to them, 'The Sabbath was made for man, not man for the Sabbath. So the Son of Man is Lord even of the Sabbath.' Another time he went into the synagogue, and a man with a shrivelled hand was there. Some of them were looking for a reason to accuse Jesus, so they watched him closely to see if he would heal him on the Sabbath. Jesus said to the man with the shrivelled hand, 'Stand up in front of everyone.' Then Jesus asked them, 'Which is lawful on the Sabbath: to do good or to do evil, to save life or to kill?'

How many of us see shadows?
How many of us feel the tremor? That single reed of awareness that vibrates ever so clearly when we are alert to what may come. We live in these times for a reason. God did not place us here by accident. We have work to do. We have a patch of dark to clear. If we see shadows, we are meant to see them.
Without shadow, we could not be the healing light we are to this moment in history.

Mission Update

St Kilda Gatehouse

Street Life

Written by Spyder, 14th October, 2009

I was a 13 year old boy when I started on the streets, trying to learn just how to survive out on my own. Since my younger days at primary school, I was called by classmates, "Loner, loner, always on his own". Schools are normally hard for a lot of people, but to survive on the streets can be harder. Not everyone I've met has been good to me.

I was 18 when my sister came to live on the streets with me. She was treated bad by our father who was an alcoholic and always took his anger out on both of us. We learned to trust only each other. I lost my sister when she was 24 years old to an overdose of heroin. It broke my heart losing her when she was all I had. When I was on my own, not able to trust anyone, a group of people came to me one night, saying they belonged to a small group named St Kilda Gatehouse. They showed me comfort, support and real love. When I was incarcerated to a prison sentence, they would always send me someone to see how I was. It was great to get visits. For someone like me with no-one in my life who was sincere, well the Gatehouse people made me feel wanted again in life. I have been on the streets for 28 years and survived. God is on my side and for once in my life my partner, now of 5 years, is by my side. I now have a family and support, plus a home and it's all mine.

I am very proud of my stable life. My children are having contact with me and my son loves my new partner. It's now the best life I've ever had and I'm proud of my life now.
